VISION

TAKE A CLOSER LOOK AT YOUR ONLINE SAVIOURS...

WHO ARE TEMPERED VISION?

We are a full service technical solutions provider, here to help you with all your online digital needs.

Have you ever experienced the frustration of flaky freelancers or lack of in-house resources? We have, and we know that your business deserves much better.

Our aim is to give you the support, the service and the commitment of a full in-house development team, but – and this is the exciting bit – externally. No more overheads. No more making additional cups of tea. No more lack of support once a freelancer or contractor has finished the job. Sounds too good to be true? We don't think so. Want to know more? Let's take a closer look at how Tempered Vision will be your online saviours.

WHY US?

You know the story: a client comes to you with a huge project spec but you don't have the manpower to complete it. You can't exactly turn them down, so what do you do? You usually end up looking for freelancers or hiring more people.

But using freelancers comes with its own set of drawbacks, as does taking on new staff. For our clients, we work as an external technical partner, which allows you to avoid the hassle and uncertainty of commissioning freelancers, or the overheads that come with hiring extra staff or managing an in-house team.

Still not sure? Perhaps this little chart might help persuade you that Tempered Vision are the answer to your problems

	TEMPERED VISION	IN-HOUSE	FREELANCERS
Full up-front costs	○	○ ¹
Clear timelines and project plans	○	○ ¹
No costs when waiting for projects ²	○		○
Ongoing support after project completion	○	○
Risks managed by not relying on individuals	○	○ ¹
Guaranteed SLA at all times	○	○
Full up-to-date technical knowledge	○		○
Pre-project planning and scoping	○	○
Additional support outside regular office hours	○	○	○ ³
Continuous contact available	○	○
Assistance with pitching technical solutions	○		○
All work completed to internal standards	○	○	○ ³

¹ Only true when team/developer is complemented by a senior technical team manager

² This refers to general overhead costs incurred with an in-house development team (still salaries to pay even if there's no work, for example)

³ Different freelancers/contractors will have their own way of doing things so your mileage may vary

ARE WE RIGHT FOR YOU?

The short answer is YES, we probably are. We work with small start-ups right up to big FTSE 250 companies. But to help you make up your mind, if you answer yes to any of the questions opposite then we are the people you should be calling.

Even if your answers are a string of no's, you should still give us a call because we're pretty certain that we would be able to help you. After all, this booklet is only a brief introduction to what we can do.

If you're not too far away, we're happy to come and visit you for a chat (we'll bring the biscuits). Or we can always arrange a meeting via Skype. Either way, we promise you it's worth it.

THE BIG QUESTIONS

- Get ticking! ...>
- Are projects slipping due to technical or resourcing issues?
 - Do you find it difficult to match your technical solution to the quality of your creative work?
 - Do you have problems providing accurate quotes and plans for technical delivery?
 - Are you losing out on clients thanks to a lack of technical knowledge or innovation during a pitch?
 - Is it often a struggle to give clients clear and understandable technology recommendations?
 - Do you find that maintaining projects is costing too much valuable time and money?
 - Do you ever face the difficult choice between building/expanding an in-house team or trying to find a decent freelancer?
 - Have you been burned by so-called cheaper 'off-shore' development houses?
 - Are off-the-shelf e-commerce packages not quite hitting the mark?
 - Are you having trouble implementing payment gateways and APIs?
